

Light Rain

By Glenn Currier

Light rain falls into my day darkened skies hang low inside dry suffused dismay and a small nagging unease reminds me a clear sunny day is a gift in the murky malaise to make this persistent haunt bearable until again light reigns.

"Light Rain," Copyright 2020 by Glenn Currier Written 5-16-20