

Blurry Vision

By Glenn Currier

My vision is on my mind lately it's blurry
in a hurry in a bind too many things all round focus lost and losing ground.

Make it simple I tell myself pause and prioritize take stuff off the shelf stop telling myself lies like I can handle it all juggle every little ball.

Focus, focus I repeat turn down the heat
let both eyes adjust on the things I can really trust.

Author's note: Yesterday I had cataract surgery on my other eye. Today my vision's blurry. Doc says swelling has to go down. Both eyes will have to adjust to each other and my brain will learn to balance them. That will take a while. Patience patience I tell myself. It'll be worth it not having to mess with glasses anymore. Have trust. I must.

"Blurry Vision," copyright 2019 by Glenn Currier Written 10-24-19