

Marilyn

How did she live so very long?
She was simply a woman strong.
After her husband's tragic demise
she had to find a way to arise.
Under great stress she had to stay calm to survive as a single mom.

To a life of service she was called teaching those with problems to stand tall she was their mentor and wise guide and stood by them with great pride.

In a world of hurt and cries
she had a certain twinkle in her eyes a sense of humor brought a smile to you if you knew her a while.

She raised a son and taught him well in a tough world to survive and dwell, to make his way as a man to use his gifts the best he can.

Marilyn's spirit was gentle and kind and anger was not her usual state of mind.
She must have had angels who stood close by
and when she was down lifted her high.

And now she dwells somewhere in sky.
And when we hear a moan or a sigh think of her and the beauty of her soul and ask her to make you whole.
