

The Front

By Glenn Currier

Before dawn the front thundered in launching with its deluge
the first glimpse of an approaching winter.
To how many more autumns will I bid farewell before my own returns me to heaven?

"The Front," Copyright 2020 by Glenn Currier Written 10-23-20