

In the Flow

By Glenn Currier

How sweet to be in the flow how dear here to know you and I are one in this glorious stream I am teeming with your life and love right here below your skies yet never beyond the view of your eyes your eyes so old and so wise I am in the middle of you in the orb of your love here, yes, but also above a hectic world in such a mess.

Here I am again looking for you within these lines in this small cosmos full of signs of your great love the swift current of your rushing tide where I have the privilege to abide for these precious moments of time here in this magnificent gentle flow where I get to search and to know the fulness of you and your creative force.
