

Before Dawn

By Glenn Currier

The night is all around me wraps me in its sweet soothing arms comforts me before the brightness of day makes its insistent demands upon me.
I sink into the night surrender the dilemmas of the day its anxieties and problems into the darkness where the God of all being will make all of these concerns into nothing if only for a while so I can find him and myself in sleep.

"Before Dawn," Copyright 2019 by Glenn Currier Written 10-5-19