

Walking Lightly

By Glenn Currier

You walk lightly,
said the old wizened man,
As if the floor were too thin and you, afraid to use all your weight.

I looked at him with a surprised grin and said
You are perceptive
no one ever said that out loud to me.

He just grinned and winked.

"Walking Lightly," Copyright 2020 by Glenn Currier Written 6-15-20