

Soon enough

By Glenn Currier

Soon enough we will be divided from each other and this life, our spirits flown to a brighter day.
So while each of our bodies occupies its small patch of earth why not choose to live in the spirit we all have now, our common humanity
and the life principle uniting us?

Author's Note: So many of our loved ones have passed from us and this earth in recent months. Death is a difficult reality to face, especially our own death. So I wanted to reflect on that reality but on a larger one too.

"Soon enough" Copyright 2020 by Glenn Currier Written 11-27-20