

Narrow Window

By Glenn Currier

I stand before the narrow window and see more clearly more deeply in this smaller space
than my years with the picture window and its crowd calling for attention.

Author's Note: I do not negate the immense value of a life filled with variety and richness, but lately with a smaller aperture, it seems I can see some things more clearly, more deeply.

Written 10-25-20